FALL 2018 WORKSHOP

Three C’s of Higher Education Budgeting: Concepts, Creation and Connections with Negotiation

August 15-17, 2018 | 8 a.m. – 5 p.m.

The Porter, Curio Collection by Hilton, Portland, Oregon

Negotiation

Days 1 & 2

* Negotiations happen every day. Whether you are negotiating with your boss and budget officer to get another FTE or training budget, negotiating with facilities to get more space, or negotiating with your spouse on where you are going to dinner, having enhanced and purposeful negotiations strategy and skills are helpful and even required in achieving your desired outcome.

Course Description

This workshop is designed to help business managers understand the negotiation process while learning strategies for analysis, develop decision making processes, and define methods for negotiations.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this workshop participants will:

- Learn business interactions that involve negotiation and understand the many negotiation styles and strategies available to you to improve business relationships and outcomes
- Develop and practice techniques and skills to enhance your understanding of potential negotiated outcomes including ability to chart decision points, alternate solutions, and exit strategies
- Refine your understanding of positions, strength/weakness, and win/win tactics to improve outcomes in a shared governance model like higher education
- Understand elements of agreement, contract, and implementation
- Build a network of colleagues who have similar roles and responsibilities and who face many of the same challenges and opportunities

Who Should Attend

This workshop is designed for higher education professionals responsible for business administration in a college, division, department or other units including central administration. Individuals who regularly negotiate both internally for resources across campus and externally with third parties will

Three C’s of Higher Education Budgeting: Concepts, Creation and Connections

Course Description

This highly interactive workshop will focus on basic higher education budgeting concepts, budget development and management, and its connection to an organization’s mission and goals. Through budgeting process case studies presented at the workshop, participants will be provided with practical tools and strategies to apply to their day-to-day work.

Learning Objectives:

By the end of this workshop participants will:
• Understand the project management life cycle and core processes including project initiation, planning, execution, control and closing
• Explore the concepts and components of a higher education budget process
• Create a budget for a sample program or department
• Review tools and techniques for on-going budget management
• Propose and evaluate budget options through workshop case studies
• Recognize connections between the budgeting process and institutional mission and goals.

Key Takeaways:

• Recognize connections between the budgeting process and institutional mission and goals
• Learn about real-world, complex examples from financial experts in higher education

Who Should Attend?:

This workshop is designed for professionals who are new to higher education, those with little exposure to budgeting, and those responsible for financial oversight in departmental and academic units and who want to enhance their knowledge in budgeting processes and fiscal stewardship.
